FOREWORD

The author apologizes for the many typographical errors. Many were corrected, but more remain. These are mainly in the lists of children, with items appearing in the wrong columns. And there are plenty of other errors. Names are spelled in various ways in the records, and I have shown these variations in parentheses following the favored spelling.

+ signs after the number of the child mean that more information can be found by looking either in the family of the child listed, in the next generation, or by looking in the alphabetical family listing for the spouse's name.

Abbreviations used are as follows:

b birth
m marriage
d death
bp = baptised
BR birth record (in Middlefield town clerk's office)
MR marriage record (in " " " ") DR death record (in " " " ") Mdf = Middlefield
res. or r = resided m/1 = first marriage, or married first
div. = divorced
CS = census
s = son
dau. = daughter
OBIT = Obituary

For each family, under the heading of Notes, references are provided to indicate where the information came from. I have abbreviated some of the more common ones:

MdfHS = Middlefield Historical Society
Atkins = "History of Middlefield and Long Hill", 1883, by Thomas Atkins.
Middlesex Co CBR = "Middlesex County Commemorative Biographical Review"
Barbour Index = the Index of Connecticut Vital Records at the Connecticut State Library.
Starr = the collection of information on old Middletown families, including Middlefield, done by Mr. Starr in early 1900's, at the Middlesex County Historical Society.
GML = Godfrey Memorial Library, in Middletown CT.
CSL = CT State Library
Robert Coe = "Robert Coe the Puritan", 1911, by J Gardner Bartlett.
Hx & Arch = "The History and Architecture of Middlefield", 1981, by Janice P Cunningham for the Greater Middletown Preservation Trust.

This work might possibly be published some day in book form. Before that many of the families need to be contacted to get more details. Information about births, marriages and deaths is missing if the individuals were not living in Middlefield at the time.

Any information that the readers can add would be most welcome. This should be kept on separate pages.
